DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawing(s) is(are) objected to because they fail to label (figure(s) 1, 3, 4 and 5) what the element boxes 1 (i.e., an engine), 7/7a (load) and 2 (motor/generator as opposed to M G) are. Without some indication as to the content of the boxes (or preferably ansi symbols of the actual elements) it is not clear as to what the elements are and they are not explanatory to a reader as a quick method of determining the general background of the invention.

See MPEP 608.02 subparagraph (o) -- Legends

Suitable descriptive legends may be used, or may be required by the Examiner, where necessary for understanding of the drawing, subject to approval by the Office. They should contain as few words as possible.

Specification

2. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: spelling of 'super' at page 7 line 15. Appropriate correction is required.

3. Applicant(s) is(are) reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

4. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "comprises", "means", and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Art Unit: 2838

5. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed. E.g., Vehicle motor-generator supply with super capacitor.

Claim Rejections - 35 U.S.C. § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. § 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-2, 5 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. §102(b) as being anticipated by Suzuki et al. (U.S. Patent 5,513,718). Suzuki et al. shows¹, (in, e.g., the(ir) figure(s) 4 and 9 and corresponding disclosure)

As to claim 1;

1. Power supply equipment for a motor vehicle, comprising a motor generator (element 2 is described at column 10 lines, e.g., 32-49), an inverter (4) for driving said motor generator (see, e.g., column 10 lines 50-60), a battery (22) and a capacitor (20) of an electrical double layer, wherein said capacitor is directly connected to a DC side of said inverter and said battery is connected in parallel with said capacitor via first switching (19 in figure 9 or 21 in figure 4) means.

As to claim 2;

2. The power supply equipment for a motor vehicle according to claim 1, further comprising: control means (5) for turning off said first switching means in the start-up (The control modes of inverter control circuit 5 include a starting mode wherein, when internal combustion engine 1 is being started, energy stored in electrostatic capacitive circuit 20 is given to squirrel-cage polyphase induction machine 2 as an AC current via inverter circuit 4, and squirrel-cage polyphase induction machine 2 is made to operate as an electric motor; a deceleration mode wherein, when the vehicle is being braked, squirrel-cage polyphase induction machine 2 is made to operate as an electric generator, and the output AC current of squirrel-cage polyphase induction machine 2 is supplied to electrostatic capacitive circuit 20 as a charging current via inverter circuit 4) of an engine (1) to separate said battery from said capacitor and for turning on said first switching means after the start-up of the engine to connect said battery to said capacitor.

As to claim 5;

5. The power supply equipment for a motor vehicle according to claim 1, further comprising: a second capacitor (7) connected in parallel with said first-mentioned capacitor between said inverter and said capacitor for eliminating high frequency ripples (by definition what capacitors do).

8. Power supply equipment for a motor vehicle, comprising a motor generator, an inverter for driving said motor generator, a battery and a capacitor of an electrical double layer, wherein said battery has a plurality of different (higher and lower) voltage terminals; said capacitor being directly connected to a DC side of said inverter; said capacitor being connected on its higher voltage side to a higher voltage terminal of said battery via first switching means; and said capacitor being connected on its higher voltage side to a lower voltage terminal of said battery via second switching means.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 3-4 and 6-7 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

4. As allowable subject matter has been indicated, applicant's response must either comply with all formal requirements or specifically traverse each requirement not complied with. See 37 C.F.R. § 1.111(b) and section 707.07(a) of the M.P.E.P.
